After years of dating or marriage, the usual dinner and drinks date night can seem tired. Spice up date night by solving a murder mystery in Asoke.

Located in the bottom of Interchange Tower, directly off of the Asoke BTS skywalk is a live, interactive escape game, Escape Hunt Bangkok. The concept of an “escape game” originated in Japan. Individuals would create simple real life rooms that they had to escape from by solving riddles and puzzles using the clues they found around the room. Escape Hunt took this concept and ran with it and it’s now the number one attraction on Trip Advisor for tourists in Bangkok.

Escape Hunt Bangkok, offers three different games; murder in the study, robbery in the bedroom and bomb in Bangkok. The murder in the study and robbery in the bedroom are both “escape from the room” games located in their office in Interchange Tower. The bomb in Bangkok is an interactive game but the location is Terminal 21. If you choose to do the “hunt” in Terminal 21, you have a limited amount of time to figure out the code to diffuse the bomb and save the shoppers. Escape Hunt is an activity best done with a group; this is why this was a perfect date night event for me and my husband. Escape Hunt is also great for families, corporate “team building” events, or just a group of friends.

When you arrive to Escape Hunt, you are greeted by your game master, who is there to guide you through the process. You are asked to nominate your lead detective and in the Sherlock Holmes fashion you are on your way to solving the mystery. The game master explains to us that we have one hour to find all of the clues and solve a murder or the room will be locked forever. If we find ourselves “stuck” with the puzzles or clues, we can pick up the white phone in the room and that will call her directly. You are allowed to ask for a hint but every hint you are given adds one minute to your time, and the entire point of the game is to solve the puzzle within the hour.

Inside the Escape Hunt

I really can't tell you much more than this without ruining the game for you! I will tell you that as soon as the game master shuts the door, the timer starts and having a timer stressed me out but in a fun way. My husband said I destroyed the room looking for clues and hints. I guess it's probably because a little bit of panic set in; who wants to be locked in a room forever?! We had to solve the murder in the study mystery; there is some information given which sets the scene to tell you what has happened to the victim. Then with the little information you have and after you have torn that room apart looking for clues, you start the process of solving the mystery.

It was an exciting, team/marriage building event. We were able to solve the mystery in 49 minutes and 43 seconds, which pales in comparison to the record holders of 29 minutes!

After your game is over, you get to relax and enjoy a congratulatory cup of tea and dress up in detective gear for some fun photos.

Escape Hunt opened their first branch in Bangkok in 2013 and since then they have opened up four other branches of the game located in Singapore, Jakarta, Phuket, and Sydney. With this game being so popular, Escape Hunt has plans of continued growth of 50 branches in 2014 and a total of 300 branches by the end of 2015. The best part about the game is that the "crime mysteries" change every six to nine months and each location around the world has a totally different theme and game. So if you had fun in Bangkok and are visiting Escape Hunt in Paris, it will be a totally new experience!

Bottom Line

Escape Hunt was probably the most entertaining date night my husband and I have had in Bangkok. With a central location directly off of the Asoke BTS, Escape Hunt is easy to find for locals and tourists.

Escape Hunt is open every day of the year from 9:30am until 8:30pm, with the first game starting at 10am and the last game booking at 7pm. For more information and to book your visit, please check out their website: <http://bangkok.escapehunt.com>.
